Bayside Church came with a team of 8 members, but quickly expanded to a team of 11 as they warmly took in Ali Reynolds from Los Angeles and Jen Donahue and Brianna McKenna from Colorado. Together they made a well-rounded group of people, where everyone participated and knew they were essential to the team.

With a busy two weeks ahead of them, Bayside hopped in with positive attitudes, ready for hard work and lots of fun. The team visited the Kibera WEEP Center, where they visited homes, brought food and cleaning supplies, and invested time and love into the women in the center.

They also had the opportunity to travel upcountry to Kabachi, Meru, where they taught youth girls, youth boys, children, and guardians on HIV/AIDS and hand washing. Pastor Joshua, who hosted the team in Meru, was thrilled with the visitors and the ways they were helping out the community. The next day they celebrated the Kabachi Kids for School Office opening, which was funded by the team's project money. The same day they traveled back to Nairobi, so they could come back in time to visit the Bulbul WEEP Center the next day.

In addition, they took their energy and knowledge to a school in the Maasai village Oldonyonyokie. Besides working up a sweat playing with the kids, they poured their hearts out in health education teaching, which they did with the kids, youth girls, youth boys, and guardians. They also returned to a Maasai village that they were previously connected to and held a health seminar.

Asante ni sana! (Thanks are many)
